Donates 15 Computers to St. Julian Devine Community Center

On July 15, 2022, Computers With a Cause, a local non-profit formed to help provide hard-working and deserving students the tools needed to succeed in today's digital work, donated 15 laptops to the St. Julian Devine Community Center. The computers will be available to students, families, and community residents at the center to access educational programs, job trainings, basic needs, financial resources, and telehealth.

Ericka Plater, TCCC Board Member and Chair of the Community Leaders Council;

City of Charleston Mayor John Tecklenburg; Dr. Bobby Baker, founder of the Dr. Bobby and Julia Baker Foundation; and Laurie Yarbrough, Director of Recreation for the City of Charleston, held a press conference announcing the donation and presented the computers to the community center.

MAKING BROADBAND A TEAM SPORT

Don't miss out on a session that will connect nonprofits working to aid communities with broadband adoption with the internet service providers that are applying to the SC Broadband Office for grant dollars to expand broadband access for all.

As part of the SC Broadband Advisory Council, Together SC has joined with the South Carolina Broadband Office within the State Office of Regulatory Staff, and the South Carolina Association of Community Economic Development (SCACED) for this highly informative event.

Mark Your Calendars for Wednesday, Aug. 10, at 1 p.m.

Jim Stritzinger, Director of the South Carolina Broadband Office, will give an overview of broadband work in South Carolina and the application process for the infrastructure grant. Bernie Mazyck, SCACED President and CEO, Phyllis Martin, CEO of TCCC, and Palmetto Care Connections, will participate in a panel discussion to share community needs and perspectives with internet service providers.
